ACO L-profile edge

The ACO Solution:

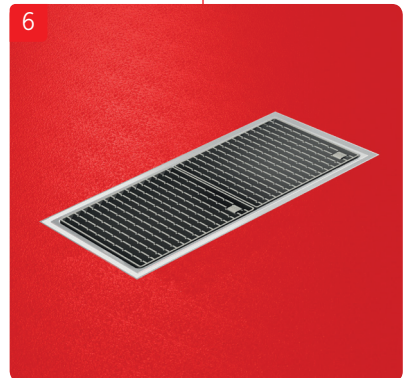

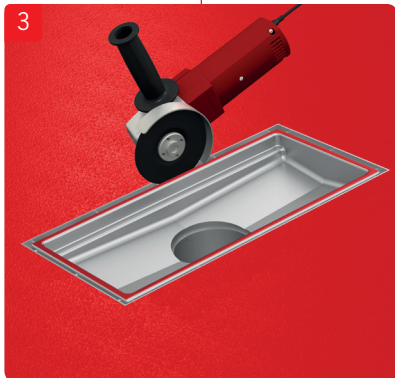

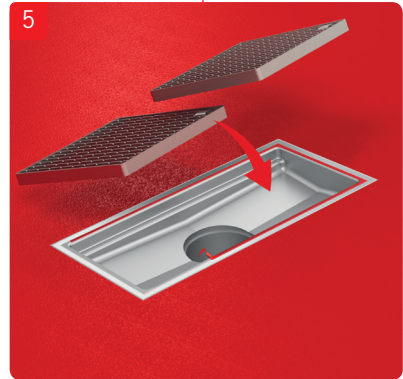

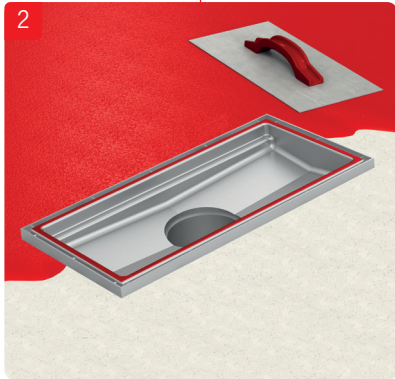

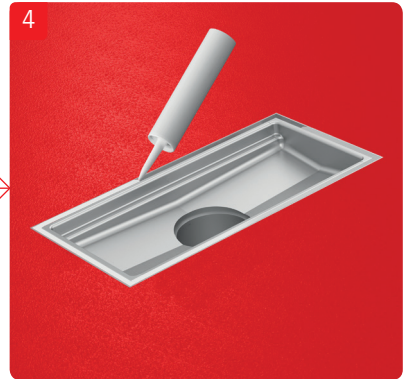

For areas where there is a need for drainage to be resistant to both thermal and dynamic shocks, ACO has tested other floor-drainage connection solutions and these showed promising results. The results of the research are incorporated into our product design and manufacturing process.

ACO drainage can be specified as a custom solution with L-profile edge resistant to both thermal and dynamic shock.

Typical applications:

- Beverage production
- Packaging plant
- Bottle washing plant
